As has often been the case before, in "soft years," Ohio has gone Democratic by a heavy majority, and more than half of its delegation in the next congress will be Bourbons. Unpleasant as this result may be to the Republicans, it should not dishearten them, nor cause them for a moment to lower their colors. It should be remembered that while the Buckeye state has allowed the Democrats to win temporary successes on many occasions during the past twenty-five years, it has never cast its vote for any but Republican presidents since the organization of the party. Ohio will be in line in 1884, and will cast its twenty-three electoral votes for the Republican candidate for president. The local issues upon which the Bourbons were permitted to win the election of yesterday will be out of the way two years hence, and the old guard will march again to victory.

In Ohio it was not a question of prohibition, but the issue was whether the liquor traffic should bear its just proportion of taxation, or be literally "free." The Democratic party pronounced in favor of "free whisky" and an unchecked flow of beer," and won the fight. The Democrats are welcome to crow over their victory.

Ohio has not been considered a very reliable Republican state of late years, and it is no wonder that it has gone Golianna ward when the whole salubrious element of the state went over to the Democratic party.

The election in Ohio yesterday resulted about as those who had watched the progress of the campaign expected. The Democratic party made large gains, attributable mainly to its attitude on the liquor question. The Republicans went manfully into the campaign with no concessions on this subject. They fought a good fight, and their loss is by no means the gain of the State or its people. They will try it again next year on the same issue. They will not step backward.—Ohio Democrat.

The following very intelligible but news greets the readers of fashion notes about now: "Copper shades with electric blue; strawberry red with rile green, and brown with green, are the contrasts of color favored for autumn coats." "Electric blue" and "rile green" are no doubt shades with which we are all familiar; but it now suits the fashion makers to give them high sounding names, and parade them on all occasions. For a woman to acknowledge herself unable to name at sight one of these shades is to pronounce herself without the pale of fashion, and an ignoramus.

A sarcasm recently unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii is said to be the first work of art from any of the buried cities bearing any intimation of Judaism or Christianity. It represents the court of Solomon about to divide the baby between the two claimants. It is about sixty inches long, by nineteen inches high; and although curiously almost ridey drawn, the various expressions are strongly delineated, and the coloring is in a perfect state of preservation. It has been placed in the museum of Naples among other Pompeian relics.

The following appeared on the 7th inst. in the editorial columns of the St. Joseph Gazette, a newspaper owned and controlled by Mr. James N. Barnes, Democratic candidate for congress in the fourth district of Missouri:

"We will extend Frank James the right hand of fellowship and show him about the city, if he will pay us a visit. He could receive a right royal welcome in St. Joseph."

A Woman Lynched in Kentucky.

From the Indianapolis (Ind.) Press.

Another page in the black history of the Sullivan-Campbell gang was turned last week by the hanging of Mary Sullivan, mistress of Crockett Jenkins, mention of whose departure by the rope-line was made in these columns a few weeks ago.

Last Sunday morning the dead body of Mary Sullivan was found hanging to a limb, a few miles from Shady Grove. The same tree and the same limb that witnessed the disgraceful death of Jenkins were part of the means by which his female partner in crime crossed the dark river. When found, the body had the appearance of having been dead several hours. Near the tree was found a basket containing some of her clothing and $40 in gold. The body was cut down and buried at Shady Grove. A few days ago Mary Sullivan was arrested as one of the parties who hung Jenkins, but was released. While under arrest at Princeton she hired guards, to keep out of jail; to pay the guards she mortgaged two milk cows. On Friday night, en route to Princeton to redeem her property, she stopped to spend the night with Norman Hubbard. About 8 o'clock that night a mob of about fifty men went to the residence of Hubbard and called for Mary; and, after posting up notices that on Friday before the first Sunday in the next month they would have another hanging, at which all the Sullivans and Campbells in the country will be hung, buried her off to the same tree from which Jenkins crossed the dark river a few days before, and there the body was found as stated. From a man who for several years resided in this neighborhood, we learn that Mary Sullivan was about 31 years old, a woman who respected no one, and who knew no fear. Given over to sinning in early life, her career has been checkered with sin upon sin. "Why," says the man, "she was the terror of the neighborhood, and I tell you, if I didn't know she was in the ground I wouldn't be telling you this. With the pistol or rifle she was a crack shot; in a hand to hand fight she was a perfect lioness. The venture she's been on many a midnight maraud, dressed in man's clothes with a pistol in her pocket. Her features were more like those of a man than a woman. Stealing was a pastime, and had she and her pals had the field and sway, their names would shine bright on a page with the Jameses. In her death that clan has received the severest blow yet, and I think their days are now numbered."

In 1882 the spurious Democratic demagogue has risen to the surface, and has the effrontery to prefix the name of Jefferson to his party. In Illinois he denies the right of the people to be heard through the ballot box on the important issue of prohibition. "He wants no sympathy in his." He will tell you that the blasted Republicans want to pass a law to prevent John Chinaman from eating his boiled rice with a round stick, etc.

Americans and men of all nationalities, it seems to him, if you like, and ignore the teachings of Jefferson and his satellites. Let him delude your ears, blind your eyes and lead you to destruction for his own self-aggrandizement. Follow him, if you will, Abrogate the American Sabbath; depredate our paramount civil institutions, and go out of light into darkness. How easy to lower man's heart to regain lost ground. Go on, if you will; open the saloons, run billiard and three card monte tables. Keep going step by step; have the trains arrive and depart at standard hours. Clear the race track; make it free for all, to go as you please. Let the political, commercial and manufacturing interests be pushed; let the mice and the bats take possession of the churches and the steeples pointing heavenward. Take down your Ten Commandments from inside your churches; say no longer you believe in the sermon on the Mount, abandon your Christian practices, acknowledge the supremacy of the devil, unkings the gates of hell, and this government of the people, by the people and for the people will perish from the earth; it will not stand long enough to fall.

On the occasion of the opening of the doors at the new Land Office at Huron, D. T., yesterday, a crowd of 300 men were around the door, all anxious to get in first. One land firm kept guard at the door steadily for forty eight hours in order to get in first with their 300 filings, and notwithstanding a warm opposition, they were successful. The officials did not attempt to look at the papers and receipt for the money, but laid the papers away, and it will probably be a week's work to straighten out yesterday's receipts. It is estimated that 1,000 land seekers are in Huron and men are stowed away in the hotels, three in a bed and six in a small room, and they consider themselves fortunate at that.

Good old Missouri! This is what the Cincinnati Commercial says of her: "For a woman to acknowledge herself unable to name at sight one of these shades is to pronounce herself without the pale of fashion, and an ignoramus."

It is doubtful after all whether Frank James surrendered himself to the Governor of Missouri unconditionally. While the Governor could not and did not go so far as to promise him a pardon in case of conviction of any of the numerous crimes with which he stands charged, it is generally believed that there was some sort of an understanding that he should not be prosecuted into death. At all events, if we may judge from the tone of the Missouri newspapers, it would be difficult to impale a jury that would find him guilty of the highest crime known to the law. He is treated more as a hero than a bandit.

Great Corn on the American Desert.

The staked plains are fast losing their reputation for being a barren desert. Says the Crosby County (Texas) Sun: "We learn from a gentleman just in from that section that the colony of Quakers who are settled on the staked plains, in Crosby county, have the finest crops this year that were ever seen in Northern Texas. They have sent word to the stockmen in that county that they will sell corn at 10 cents a bushel less than it can be bought on the railroad, and they will be prepared to furnish any reasonable amount."

Contrary to general expectation, the Germans of Indiana are abandoning the Democratic party because of its alliance with the liquor league. In Evansville, where there is a very large German population, the Courier, the Democratic paper, has felt it necessary to come out in very strong denunciation of the Liquor-Democracy. It says that less than one hundred Germans in that county will vote with the Democracy, while that party will also lose many American voters who will not consent to see the Democratic organization made the mere tool of the liquor interest.

You will see nothing but the latest imported novelties in Neck Wear at John Irwin's. It will pay you to look at them.

FOR THE REPUBLICAN PERSONAL LIBERTY.

JEFFERSON DEMOCRATS.—I carry my own skilled, and do not want an office. Listen: I want to talk about that priceless boon you call "individual personal liberty." Please allow me to quote a few sentences from Jefferson and other old chaps upon the subject; to wit: "American liberty consists in every man being allowed to speak his sentiments through the ballot box upon all issues calculated to better the condition of the human family." Absolute equality in the decision of the majority is the vital principle of our republic. Every man, when he enters into society, gives up a part of his natural liberty as the price of so valuable a purchase, and in consideration of receiving the advantage which he may have in twenty precincts in the county ticket; but there is great diversity on the vote for county officers, indicating that the Republicans will elect their candidate for Sheriff. The Democratic gain in twenty precincts is 3,020. At the same rate for the remaining precincts the Democratic majority would be 10,000. The Republicans place Follett, Democrat, 1st District, at 70 majority; Jordan, 2d District, at 500.

Richard Smith of the Gazette, while measuring the Democratic victory at about 10,000 in the state and at least ten Congressmen, says the losses have been in nearly every part of the state. He says the demoralization of the Republican party in New York and Pennsylvania had its effects here, and while the bossism that spoiled the party in these states does not exist here, yet the fact that the party was divided in those states, and that the National Administration whether justly or otherwise, was blamed, the party, in the public estimation, was on the wrong side and this has had a bad effect in Ohio. Besides, it has been up-hill work during the canvass to explain the action of Congress in voting extravagant appropriations and failing to reduce taxation, although the Democratic minority always obstructed legislation.

The temperance question, which was a live issue in the campaign, was not boldly presented. It did all the harm it could do without calling out the strength it might have brought, if it had not been for a divided Republican front. He regards the disaster as no more than others, and counsels no lowering of the flag but a wholesome correction of wrongs which have been condemned and a steadfast adherence to principles.

Hulstead, of the Commercial, attributes the disaster to the interference of Gov. Foster and Richard Smith, whereby the German Republicans were alienated. He says the Germans have always been the old guard of the Republican party in Ohio. No issue has ever been successfully met in Ohio without their aid, and none ever will be. This whole trouble was hatched by meddling people who had nothing to say, and who would, at another time, impale the party on the issue of woman suffrage, if nothing better could be found. He had no hesitation in denouncing the leaders of the anti-German issue as responsible for this crushing defeat.

The Engage will claim fifteen congressmen in Ohio. As to the majorities it does not mention estimates, but refers freely, editorially, to its telegrams. It will say the victory is decisive and overwhelming, and that it disposes of Foster in politics. It assumes that the campaign was dishonest on the part of the Republicans because, as it alleges, they talked one way on the liquor question in the country and another in the cities, morning and evening. Can enter by telephone. Pictures will be furnished weekly.

Hades Comes out Ahead

But there's a Ray of Light from West Virginia.

CINCINNATI, October 10.—The returns compiled from twenty-three precincts in Hamilton county show that, in about one-fourth of the entire vote, the candidates on the Democratic State ticket average 500 more votes than the Democrats on the county ticket; but there is great diversity on the vote for county officers, indicating that the Republicans will elect their candidate for Sheriff. The Democratic gain in twenty precincts is 3,020. At the same rate for the remaining precincts the Democratic majority would be 10,000. CINCINNATI, Oct. 10.—Edward Mathew was arrested by Marshal Leffler, of Lockland, at Middleton, this morning, as the murderer of Arthur W. Ross. He had been drunk in a saloon in Lockland, when he displayed some money, and wanted a check for $50 cashed. It was thought the check had been taken from Ross' pocket-book. Mathew was found at the residence of his brother-in-law, at Jordan, 2d District, at 70 majority: Jordan, 2d District, at 500.

THE initial hop of the season, given last night at Grand's Armory, by the Peoria Chapter, under the management of Will Leiby and Will Muzzy, was well attended and proved a social success.

There were 16 numbers on the printed programme for which Goodman's orchestra furnished the music. Similar parties will be given by this club every other Thursday evening during the winter.

ALBERT ADAMS, son of Frank Adams, who broke one of his arms accidentally one day last June, was playing ball yesterday. He broke the same arm again during the progress of the game. The ball was taken to the office of Dr. Grimes, where the arm was reset. The second break was a great deal more serious than the first, and the arm will have to be carried in a sling for many days before it can be used again.

LAST night Mr. Edward Holley of Harrison township, and a member of two Irish societies in this city, met with a painful accident on coming out of Hibernian hall after the temperance rally at the tabernacle. The stairway is very steep and there was no light. Coming down the first flight Holley thought he had reached the bottom, but he missed his calculation by two steps. The consequence was he fell in a heap in the corner and his left arm was broken a few inches above the elbow joint. He was attended by Dr. W. J. Chenoweth.
